The girl's voice shook a little as she made the audacious request. Harry dropped back a few steps and compared the pert, powdered prettiness of the soubrette with the natural, queenly beauty of the lady. Her reply was what he had expected.

Mr. Jessop is not well enough to see people, Lisette.

I regret it, milady. Perhaps I may see him more late in the day, after dinner?

I see no necessity for it, Lady Anne said coldly, as she walked towards the house.

But Lisette stood her ground, encouraged by having a man among her audience.

Pardon, milady! But yesterday, Monsieur Jessop has said me that if I was not contented with everything here I was not to trouble milady, but to go straight to him. I am desolated to tease you with it, milady. I have weeshed only to tell his good, kind old Monsieur Jessop. But ze night of yesterday, quite late, nearly ten of ze clock, a frightful man seize me in ze cloisters, and pinch my arm and ears, and frightened me so as I was 'alf dead.

Why did you not tell me of all this before? What sort of man do you mean? Lady Anne asked sharply.

A laborer, milady, all zat zere is of most common and ugly. Wis a back round, and frightful red 'air—

Red hair!

Yes, milady. I gave him one blow, and I push 'im away, and I scream. But he give a nasty laugh, and say, I catch you, another time! Zen I tell my mother and Maria, and zey say, it is only Sammy, who is mad! But I tell zem I am not used to have mad Sammys pay court to me, and if I did not complain to you I should complain to zis good old Monsieur Jessop.

Stay indoors in the evenings, Lisette, and these adventures will not happen to you, Lady Anne said icily. And now, Mr. Worth, if you will come into the drawing-room I will give you some tea.

He was beginning to understand her face through constantly watching it, and he could see that she was greatly troubled. She made tea in a mechanical way, and seemed to have gone back to her old indifferent, almost scornful, treatment of him. He would have felt deeply hurt by the change in her behaviour, but that he saw in her eyes a look of distress so infinite as to fill him with wonderment.

She had almost forgotten his existence as she sat there behind the lamp and the tea kettle at the table, and stared away into the gardens with an expression of something like despair upon her face.

What had happened to trouble her, he asked himself, since he had parted from her in the garden on receiving ing Stephen Jessop's summons.

Surely the knowledge that her pensioner Sammy had annoyed a member of her household by his senseless impudence was not sufficient cause for such sorrow.

As to Stephen's suggestion that she was not in her right senses, Harry's mind revolted against the thought.

There was a serene dignity about her, a gracious womanliness, utterly at variance from the idea of a disordered intellect. She was sad and thoughtful rather than merry, but her words and movements all suggested an unusual amount of self-control.

Harry did not understand her, but he persisted in believing in her.

Presently she seemed to force herself back into her surroundings, and, turning to Harry, she gave him a weary half-smile.

I know I am an abominable hostess she said. But after all, it is a compliment to treat you as if you were an old friend, so I can be perfectly natural with you.

You may treat me just as you please, Lady Anne, he said. To be able to spend a little time in your presence is sufficient happiness for me—at present.

She put down the teacup she was holding and sighed impatiently.

Ah, if you talk like that you spoil everything! she exclaimed. If you would get rid of all these mistaken ideas about me we should get on much better.

But we get on very well as it is, he suggested. And the ideas are not mistaken. I love you. You don't love me yet, but you may some day. And I hope and believe you will.

Never, she said emphatically. I don't want to hurt your feeling, Mr. Worth. I feel sure you are a very kind, frank, honorable gentleman, and most women would find it easy enough to get fond of you. But those things are not for me. I think you have made an immense mistake in coming here at all. But you make an even greater one when you suppose that I would ever, under any circumstances marry you.

And what is the insuperable reason against it? he asked quietly.

She suddenly blushed deeply, and bent her head very low as she helped herself to sugar. When she looked up she answered in a bright, indifferent tone—

You are much too young for me, Mr. Worth. Too young, and too energetic, and too rich, and—oh, and too good-looking also. When I was a girl I hated good-looking men. I think I refused Lucian Warne so many times because he was so handsome.

I had no idea my fatal beauty was against me, he said. But it has excited so little comment in America that I think you would get used to it, Lady Anne.

She shook her head at him.

Put the idea of sentiment right out of your head, and we shall be splendid friends, Mr. Worth.

We are splendid friends, I hope. And please don't call me Mr. Worth. If you would rather not call me Clavel, please say Harry.

You are very persistent, she said without much anger in her voice. Anyhow, I will show you the chapel, if you like to come.

A Gothic archway in the hall at the back of the house led into a vaulted stone passage, in which were two cell-like doors. One of them was open, and Harry could see just such a sleeping apartment as he had beheld in old monasteries on his travels, without carpet without comforts, and with only a meagre light entering the narrow barred window high on the wall. Lady Anne closed the door as she came to it, and led him through into the chapel.

The air was heavy with the scent of the roses and lilies on the altar. Above it was a stained-glass window, modern, but of fine unconventional design. The subject was the repent and thief, turning his dying eyes upward to his Redeemer; and written underneath on the glass in white letters on a crimson background were the words—

"Help Thou my unbelief."

To the left of the altar a good copy of the well-known painting of Christ and the Pharisee and the woman. And inscribed on the gilded frame in great black letters ran the legend—

Neither do I condemn thee. Go and sin no more.

The place was in beautiful order, and there was no speck of dust on the mosaic pavement, or on the altar, or on the tomb Harry had come to see. This was of stone, large and massive, and still bearing the original brass, with the figure of the Abbot and a long inscription in Latin.

It was while Harry was bending over this and endeavoring to decipher it that he became suddenly aware that he and Lady Anne were not alone in the chapel.

On one side of the altar steps he had imagined that a small heap of black curtains or hangings had been placed. But he presently caught sight of some movement among the dark drapery, and of a face, worn, wrinkled, and of a yellowish pallor turned in his direction.

Lady Anne must have seen it, too. But she made no comment. Possibly, in the dim light of the chapel, which was illuminated only by the window of stained glass and a small suspended lamp, she supposed that Harry had not distinguished that crouching figure at the altar steps.

In any case, she touched Harry's arm and led him out of the chapel. It is chilly in there of an evening, she said as he took his leave of her.

She watched him from the Gothic porch of stone overhung with crimson roses which led into the house, and as he passed beyond the yew hedge, she walked with a determined step to the door of her room, and unlocking it, passed through into that of Stephen Jessop.

How dared you tell Harry, Clavel that lie? she asked in tones of passionate excitement.

Offered His Bid

A Yorkshireman recently entered an auction mart. Looking around and catching the auctioneer's eye during a lull in the bidding, he shouted loudly enough to be heard by all:

May I bid?

Certainly, said the man of the hammer, thinking him a customer. All eyes being turned on the customer, he, making for the door, said: Well, I bid you good-night, then. The laughter which followed stopped business for some time.

Used according to directions, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial will afford relief in the most acute form of summer complaint. Whenever the attack manifests itself no time should be lost in seeking the aid of the Cordial. It will act immediately on the stomach and intestines and allay the irritation and pain. A trial of it will convince anyone of these assertions.

Most Excellent Reason

It was a gala occasion at the school, and the young lady principal was very anxious that her pupils should show off to the best advantage before the many ladies present.

So to the first scholar she said: Now, Grace, where was Mary, Queen of Scots, born?

At Linlithgow, answered the pupil. And why was Mary born there? asked the teacher.

And sweet little Grace promptly answered: Because, ma'am, her mother was staying there.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach disorders come without warning and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. Mrs. Adeline Oullette, St. Bruno, Que., writes: "My baby was troubled with his bowels, but Baby's Own Tablets soon set him right again." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Conforms to the high standard of Gillett's goods. Useful for five hundred purposes.

MONEY TO LOAN ON FARM PROPERTY AT CURRENT RATES OF INTEREST

More About
The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oftentimes to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now however the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmer's freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to cause car shortages. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded, whether with grain, coal, lumber or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on our bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

Board of Trade Meeting

The Executive Committee of the Bowden Board of Trade held a meeting on the 9th inst. to discuss a question of extending the present telephone system further West; but enough names were not forthcoming; to come within the specified grant of the Provincial Government. The secretary Mr. T. Riley was asked to interview Mr. Watson, to get an idea as to how many of the farmers in his neighborhood would subscribe towards having a phone.

In answer to Mr. Riley's communications re harvesters, R. F. Daly, Publicity Commissioner, for the Province of Alberta, sent the following reply:

Winnipeg, Aug. 30th, 1912

T. B. Riley, Esq.,

Bowden, Alta.

Dear Sir:

Your application for "Harvesters" received.

I have sent all that could be induced to take tickets to your railway station and have provided them with printed directions advising them to enquire for you on arrival, and hope that a good number have followed our instructions.

There is a very great shortage of men this season and wages are higher than usual, several places in Manitoba and Saskatchewan are offering $3.00 to $3.50 per day with board or $45 to $50 per month for the season, therefore advise the farmers of your district to offer the best possible wages!

Three more excursions are coming from eastern Provinces. I will do my best to secure more help for your district.

Please advise me at once how many are yet required.

Splendid Harvesting Weather

At the present moment the farmers of Bowden district are probably the happiest and at the same time the busiest class of people in the Province. Their good humor is largely due to the ideal weather conditions of the past week. They are busy because of the immense crop which they are harvesting.

Very few if any reports of frosted crops have been received up to date, which speaks well of our district.

Bowden district has been blessed with a remarkably fine period of harvest weather. Cloudless skies with Old Sol dispensing his rays in his kindest style have been the order of the day during the greater part of this week. The temperature has approached mid-summer heat during the spell of warm weather. On Wednesday the mercury climbed to almost 80, while all week it has been hovering between 65 and 75.

So warm was the sun on Wednesday that straw hats, which had been temporarily shelved on the first of September, once more made their appearance.

For five years pays for an improved fruit tract in B. C. At the end of the five years it should bring you in $500 to $1,500 per year.

Actual Government Reports for the Kootenay Lake District show greater results from ONE ACRE

I have set aside five hundred acres of choice fruit, land, and as soon as I have sold that out your opportunity is lost. I want every man, woman or child who reads this ad to send in their dollar at once and secure an acre tract on the above terms. Write for full particulars of the best offer ever made to those who wish a home in an ideal climate, where you will have honest and congenial neighbors.

I sell five, ten and twenty acre tracts on very easy monthly payments. Also give a big discount for cash. Join one of my monthly excursions and see the country for yourself. July 20 and August 30 are my next two dates. A big bunch went up June 27—all bought from me except two. Pretty good evidence that what I am offering is right, isn't it? I have sold to several hundred people since January 1st. I live there myself. Have my own fruit ranch on the shores of the beautiful Kootenay Lake. I want you for my neighbor in B. C., and I am sure you will want to be when you see the country. My new way to grow apples will interest you. Also the famous Kootenay Magazine tells all about the fruit, and other industries of Southern B. C. Subscription price $2.50 per year, or sent free for year on receipt of twenty names of friends or relatives who might be interested in B. C. fruit lands. My booklet, "Homeseeking," tells you how I spent five years in the West looking for what we all want—an ideal location for a home. It's free.

How to Make Fringe Plumes

The woman whose purse is slim and whose desires are great will welcome the fact that feathers made of fringe are fashionable.

A fringe feather sounds funny, does it not? But it is not a bit queer-looking; unusual, perhaps, and very graceful, says The Philadelphia North American.

A few years ago women were satisfied to bedeck themselves in curly ostrich feathers that measured twelve or fourteen inches, sometimes less, and were quite happy with them; but now long willow plumes measure from eighteen to thirty-six inches, and cost many times the amount of the small natural feather.

These long, costly plumes being out of reach of many, a beautiful substitute has come from Paris and these are quite easy to make at home, if you can wield a needle.

For an eighteen-inch plume you will require one yard and a half of wide fringe, six or eight inches deep, a piece of round silk-covered milliner's wire eighteen inches long, heavy and strong, and half a yard of inch-wide satin ribbon, the color of the fringe.

First of all, cover the wire with the ribbon, sewing it very securely and keeping the seam straight; now to the ribbon-covered wire three rows of fringe are sewed, covering the seam in the ribbon and leaving a narrow strip of ribbon to show that will correspond to the rib on the natural feather.

Great care must be taken in sewing on the fringe as the whole appearance of the feather depends on it; it must be done neatly, concealing the stitches as much as possible.

Having the fringe attached to the wire, one end—the top of the feather—must be bent over in a curve to resemble the natural curve in the real feathers, then, with a heated curling iron the ends of the fringe are curled inward just a little way, and then shaken out until they are fluffy and as near like the real feather as it is possible to make them appear.

The feather of fringe is ready to be sewed on to your hat, where it will droop over the brim in a most fascinating manner.

The charm of this home-made feather lies in the fact that the cost is very small and that you can indulge in any color you wish, matching the hat itself or the gown with which it is to be worn.

One-half of the world does not know how the other half lives and, more's the pity, doesn't care.

Things are always different from when other people were young.

A man self-satisfied is a man satisfied with his companion.

WOODEN culverts are unsightly, dangerous, expensive, short-lived.

Which kind of a culvert does your waggon cross?

DOES the road you use pass over rickety, dangerous wooden culverts, that are constantly in need of repairs and often washed away entirely? Or is it carried safely across the low places by modern, everlasting culverts? Build your which not only cannot be washed away, but actually grow stronger with age and use.

Every farmer owes it to himself to insist that the money he pays for road-taxes be spent to the best advantage. As a ratepayer, he is entitled to the best roads that can be made with that money. When culverts are washed out, and the road rendered impassable, he not only suffers inconvenience but may also be caused financial loss by inability to get necessary supplies in time for spring planting. And at best, with wooden culverts, part of the money that should be used to make better roads must be spent every year for repairs.

Insist upon Concrete Culverts

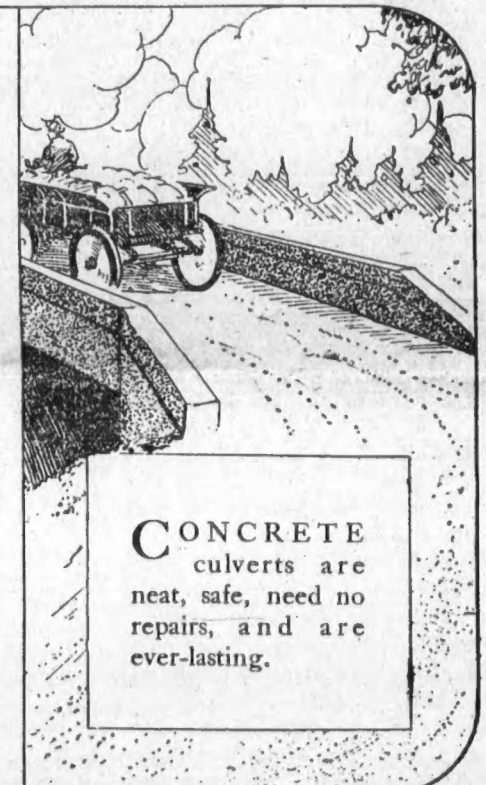

It will pay you and everybody else in your county.

Might Know One

A man, apparently from the country, stepped up to the ticket-seller in the Piccadilly Tube station and asked—

Been in town long?

Quite a while, replied the ticket-seller.

Know a man named O'Connell?

No.

Sure you don't know O'Connell?

Say, said the ticket-seller, impatiently, there are seven million people in London. Do you expect me to know every man in the bunch?

No, replied the other, but I thought you might have sense enough to know one.

A pleasant medicine for children is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, and there is nothing better for driving worms from the system.

Pat was busy on a Hull road working with his coat off. There were two Englishmen working on the same road, so they decided to have a joke with the Irishman. They painted a donkey's head on the back of Pat's coat, and watched to see him put it on. Pat, of course saw the donkey's head on his coat, and turning to the Englishmen, said:

Which of yez wiped your face on my coat?

I am going to put some white in the yoke, said the young lady, referring to her gown.

Won't that scramble it? inquired the young man.

To Remember You by

My life was a garden of flowers that day.

When you gave me a rose and I still hear you say

Very softly, and in your own dear girlish way,

To remember me by.

And that evening long past together we spent,

When your voice to that song a new glad meaning lent,

Which I carried with me, as homeward I went.

To remember you by.

And now tho' hard Fate has ruthlessly cast

Our lots far apart, yet we both have the Past;

And your memory sweet I shall have till the last.

Something About Salt

The chief thought about salt in the minds of all holiday-makers will be in connection with the sea; but it has other uses and significance.

Most people think that spilling salt is unlucky. This superstition has been handed down from the ancient Romans. Two or three hundred years ago all the servants of the wealthy sat below the salt to show their humble origin, and this custom was observed not so very long ago in Scotland.

Salt in a coffin is still prevalent among some nations, but the most curious use to which salt is put to-day is in Abyssinia and Tibet, where cakes of salt are employed as money.

A sure way to break up a sitting hen is to run her through a thrashing machine. That will do it effectively.

Philosophy of Undertaking

Ours is a solemn business, said an undertaker, and yet there happens in it something over which all concerned can reasonably be cheerful.

We once had a customer, who had lost his wife and who came to us to bury her, which we did. After the funeral he came back to us. He had selected the casket in which his wife was buried and now he bought one just like it for himself. He was a man in health, with no prospect of death so far as that was concerned, but he was greatly grieved and cast down over the death of his wife, and when he should die he wanted to be buried in a casket just like that in which we had buried her. So he bought the casket and we held it for him.

Something more than a year after he met another woman with whom he fell in love and whom he married; and after that we got a letter from him saying:

Sell my casket. I've no use for it now.

Extraordinary Strength of Hair

Frau Langer calls herself a hair athlete, she claims to have the strongest hair in the world. At a variety theatre in Berlin she has been astonishing the spectators by the extraordinary feats she performs with her hair. Among these is one in which her husband, a man of medium size and weight, slings a hammock between a tree and her hair, lies down in it and swings at his ease. Women who know how it hurts to have their hair pulled will understand what a tough scalp she must have to be able to bear such a strain upon it. Another of her feats is to place her little girl in a swing, tie this to her hair and let the child swing to and fro. She has acquired this unusual strength in her hair by many years of copatant practice. There is nothing astonishing about the strength of Frau Langer's hair; what is extraordinary is the strength of her scalp. For human hair is, for its thickness one of the strongest materials known. This female Samson has drilled her scalp to resist a pull that would tear the ordinary woman's hair out by the roots.

Gentlemen.—In June, 98, I had my hand and wrist bitten and badly mangled by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days and the tooth cuts refused to heal until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using. THIRTEEN YEARS

Unlucky Number for Dakota Woman

The question whether the number "13" is really more unlucky than any other number has never been entirely settled.

A So. Dak. woman, after thirteen years of misery from drinking coffee, found a way to break the "unlucky spell." Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the drug in coffee. She writes:

"For thirteen years I have been a nervous wreck from drinking coffee. My liver, stomach, heart—in fact, my whole system being actually poisoned by it.

"Last year I was confined to my bed for six months. Finally it dawned on me that coffee caused the trouble. Then I began using Postum instead of coffee, but with little faith, as my mind was in such a condition that I hardly knew what to do next.

"Extreme nervousness and failing eyesight caused me to lose all courage. In about two weeks after I quit coffee and began to use Postum, I was able to read and my head felt clear. I am improving all the time and I will be a strong, well woman yet.

"I have fooled more than one person with a delicious cup of Postum. Mrs. S. wanted to know where I bought my fine coffee. I told her my grocer had it and when she found out it was Postum she has used it ever since, and her nerves are building up fine.

"My brain is strong, my nerves steady, my appetite good, and best of all, I enjoy such sound, pleasant sleep." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Get the little book in pkg. "The Road to Wellville."

The Worst Case

The worst case of mixed metaphor known, said a teacher of English at the University of Pennsylvania, was the output of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, who belonged to a Philadelphia family. Sir Ellis once wrote to the London Times:

The concert of the powers in China is a mere delusive screen, agreeable in sound, very tickling to the ignorant ear, calculated to draw the cheers of the groundlings, but which really serves only as a blind to ourselves, as a cover for ministerial inaction as a sounding board to tell our foes of our plans, and as a lever wherewith they are enabled to checkmate our policy.

Imagine, ended the instructor—imagine a screen doing all that!

Raw, Inflamed, Itching Skin is Soothed and Healed by

Barber's Itch is a form of Ringworm, which, when once started, is most annoying and unsightly, and most difficult to cure. Barbers often refuse to shave anyone having this disease, for fear of passing it on to other customers.

But you can cure Barber's Itch and keep the skin wonderfully soft and healthy by applying Dr. Chase's Ointment. Just read what this teacher has to say about the healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Chas. C. Poirier, Upper Caraque, N.B., writes—"Two years ago while teaching at Shippegan I caught Barber's Itch. A friend told me Dr. Chase's Ointment would cure me, as it had him. When I went for a box I thought it dear, but when I found how good it was I thought it cheap.

"Not only was I cured by that single box, but it also cured two of my pupils, and this too quickly to be believed. One of them, a girl, had a running sore on the chin, which the doctor had tried in vain to cure. The other had a sore on the ear. I can certify to the cure of these cases."

Wherever there is itching skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can apply Dr. Chase's Ointment with positive assurance that the results will be entirely satisfactory. The soothing, healing power of this great ointment is truly wonderful. 60c. a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

That Mocha Myth

Twenty coffee experts testified in Judge Landis's court in Chicago, that the world it is 200 years old. The last shipment from Mocha of local grown coffee took place that many years ago.

This is no news to those who know coffee. We have oft been told that the cute Brazilians raise a special Mochaesque bean, which they ship to Aden, whence it is re-shipped to the world under the magic name of Mocha. The world has looked blandly on at this, has bought coffee, drank it and tractably called it Mocha. Other coffee countries may have similar schemes.

In a word Mocha coffee has ceased to be a geographical name and has become a mere trade name for a trade article.

A Stick for a Hump

Swing a stick to cure a hump, physical or mental. A well known physician recently stated that fewer round shoulders would be observed in our young men of to-day could they but cultivate the habit of carrying a stick. As will easily be seen, the use of a walking stick inevitably pulls back the arm. And so, quite naturally, too, the chest is pushed forward, thus allowing of its expansion. Whereas the man who carries nothing is invariably nervously conscious of his hands. And to hide them away somewhere puts them in his pockets. What happens? By the very action of thrusting his hands in his pockets he brings his shoulders into the line of a slouch, and so to a stoop. But to be at all efficacious the walking stick carried must be of ordinary size—that is to reach as far as the hip. A shorter stick falls in its mission. For either it is swung in the hand, with the other hand in the pocket, or it is carried high under the arm, with both hands buried deep.

Biggest Prize for Wheat

At the Dry-Farming Products Exposition at Lethbridge
OCTOBER 19-26 1912

The $2500 Type F Rumely Traction Engine donated by M. Rumely Co. of LaPorte, Indiana, is the premier prize of 1912 for the best bushel of wheat. This valuable premium is open to the world, and to the grower of the best bushel of hard wheat grown under dry-farming conditions and exhibited at Lethbridge, it will be delivered free of charge at the company's distributing agency in either the United States or Canada that is nearest the winner's farm.

Any wheat grower can compete for this tractor—there is no string attached—and the man who farms one acre will have an equal chance at winning with the man who raises 10,000 acres of wheat, for it will be the best bushel of hard wheat grown where the annual precipitation is less than 20 inches that the judges will consider.

It is to be hoped that some of the farmers in the Bowden district will enter this contest, for we feel sure that some one of our farmers can win this prize, Try.

MORE GERMAN PERIL

SIR ARTHUR LAWLEY SEES A REAL DANGER

Believes that the Most Potent Factor in the World's Peace is the British Navy—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says Bad Arbitration is Better than Successful War

Ottawa.—At a luncheon given to visiting British financiers and legislators at the Chateau Laurier, the guests included several members of the Dominion cabinet and the former Liberal government, among them Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. F. D. Monk, Crothers, Hon. W. B. Nantel, Hon. J. D. Reid, Hon. W. J. Roche, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and Hon. W. S. Fielding.

In proposing the toasts to the guests, Sir Wilfrid Laurier in pointing out how Canada's differences with the United States had been settled during the past hundred years, without resort to arms, said a bad arbitration was better than the most successful war. Touching on the race for armament in Europe, he said:—

Thank God, Canada shall never go into it to settle her differences by such a race. In England you think of armament and wars; in Canada, we think of canals and railways, and public works.

As to the German peril Sir Wilfrid believed that Germany was only seeking territory for colonization. He believed there was enough for Germany without embroiling Great Britain into a national war. He mentioned the present Panama canal dispute to say that he believed that British and Canadian diplomacy would be able to settle it to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Sir Arthur Lawley, a formerly governor-general of South Africa, said he had recently taken part in the reception to the Canada premier at the Royal Colonial Institute in London. He said that Mr. Borden told of his work in welding together a nation in Canada. He stirred the heart of every Englishman, however self-centred, un-emotional and insular he might be. Our welcome to Mr. Borden, he said, was no mere act of courtesy, but it was the hand-grip of citizens of a common empire.

Touching on the matter of imperial union, Sir Arthur said that at the present time, the union of the British self-governing dominions was being promoted for the purposes of defence. He proceeded to justify this way of looking at the world situation. Europe was just now a vast armed camp. Germany, the world's greatest military power and the second greatest naval power, was arming herself prodigiously with no ostensible reason. At any moment England might find herself embarked upon a colossal fight, and he would not insult the intelligence of his auditors by pointing out the inevitable effect on Canada of a great continental war.

It is more comfortable at the present time to prattle about perpetual peace, said the speaker. But the most potent factor in the world's peace today is the British navy.

No Favors From Canadian Roads. London.—The proposal to hold the next annual conference of the Institute of Journalists at Montreal was discussed at a recent meeting, a resolution to that effect being carried by a substantial majority.

Robert McDonald, president-elect, and editor of the London Chronicle, considered the proposal neither practical nor expedient on the ground of expenditure of time and money.

The members of the Institute were not missionaries or commercial travellers, he said, but working journalists.

Again, it would be below the dignity of the Institute to accept the hospitality of great Canadian railroad corporations, against whom the Canadian journalists themselves were generally fighting.

Israel Zangwill supported the resolution remarking that he saw no reason why they should object to Canada helping the Empire.

Big Reform in New Zealand. London.—A Wellington, N.Z., correspondent says a measure aiming at the destruction of political patronage has been introduced.

It provides for the appointment of a commissioner, having whole control of all the chief departments, except the railways.

This official may be suspended on the ground of incompetence or misbehaviour, by the governor, but can be dismissed only by the House.

His decision will be subject to review by the appeal board and applicants soliciting support of members of parliament for appointment of promotion in the public service will be disqualified.

Need 2,000 More on G.T.P. Work. Vancouver, B.C.—E. J. Chamberlain, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific states that two thousand more men were needed on construction work on his line in British Columbia. Unless an adequate number of men could be obtained it would take much longer to complete the railway than had been anticipated.

Commander Evans Going South. London.—Commander Evans, R.N., second in command under Captain Scott of the British Antarctic expedition, left England to resume his command of the Terra Nova which will proceed to the Polar regions to meet Captain Scott and his party.

OFFICIAL PROTEST BY BRITAIN

Will Appeal to Hague Unless Settlement of Canal Matter is Reached

Washington.—Great Britain has reaffirmed its protest against the Panama Canal Bill. In a note filed with the State Department by A. M. Innes, charge of the British embassy here, it was stated that if a satisfactory agreement could not be reached Great Britain would appeal to the Hague tribunal for arbitration.

The note submitted, says Great Britain will give careful consideration to both the bill and the message President Taft sent to Congress regarding discrimination in favor of American coastwise shipping in the canal. If after due consideration, it is found that no satisfactory agreement can be reached in the matter, Great Britain declares that it will be necessary to appeal to arbitration.

Strathcona On Panama Bill

London.—Lord Strathcona interviewed on the question of the Panama canal deprecated too much public discussion pending further developments. If the bill, he said, had been passed as originally intended; a bill so that every nation should have a free unrestricted use of the canal, it would have been a great benefit to every country doing trade with the west coast. It would have facilitated and cheapened the transporting of passengers and of light goods which form so large a proportion of the traffic of railways. If these discriminating provisions, however, in favor of the United States should come into operation they would seriously hamper the other nations which carry so much of the overseas trade. We look upon it as absolutely wrong, declared his lordship, especially in Great Britain that this interpretation should have been put upon the treaty. The foreign office doubtless will put the matter before the American people in the proper light and we have the assurance that a very large body of American opinion is not satisfied that it should be left as it now stands.

Thinks Government of China Will Not Last Long

Vancouver, B.C.—The present government of China will be of short duration, in the opinion of Commander C. J. Eyres, R.N., formerly commander of the British squadron at Hong Kong. The commodore passed through Vancouver enroute from Hong Kong to England. I look for another uprising in China, soon, he said. The idea seems to prevail over here that every thing is lovely in China, but the reverse is the same. The present government will be of short duration and the overthrow will come when we least expect it.

Bounties or Lead Case

Ottawa.—Canadian lead bounties have ceased, for the present at least, to be paid by the government.

The reason is that the price paid for Canadian lead in London has reached the $90 a ton mark when, according to the statute bounties must automatically cease.

The bounty is $15 a ton. In addition to the passing of the lead bounty at least temporarily, the bounty of 9c. a ton on pig iron and sixty cents on electrically treated steel will terminate permanently at the end of the year.

AIRMEN FIRED AT

Basket of Their Balloon is Struck With Bullets

Geneva.—Several aeronauts who left Lucerne for a voyage in the Alps in the Aero Club's balloon Theodore Shaeck narrowly escaped being shot. They were forced to descend near Nidwald, where three Swiss, armed with rifles, took aim and fired, with the result that the basket of the balloon was struck several times with bullets.

Several of the bullets passed near the passengers, who are intensely indignant at the outrage. One of the men have been arrested.

Reduce Rates on Suez Canal

London.—The directors of the Suez Canal have formerly announced their intention to reduce from January 1 next the transit dues of the canal by 50 centimes, thus making the tariff for loaded ships 6.25 francs and for ships in ballast 3.75 francs per ton. For three successive years the company has made reductions of 50 centimes, or a total reduction in the tariff for the period mentioned of about 20 per cent.

G.T.P. To Use Oil in Mountain Section

Victoria, B.C.—President E. J. Chamberlain, of the G.T.P., announces that his company has definitely decided to use oil as locomotive fuel on the mountain section. The company is in possession of large areas of oil lands which will give it a perpetual supply. Eventually it is hoped to use oil on the National Transcontinental section of the road.

Probe Meat Trust

Toronto.—A petition to the governor-general asking for the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the alleged meat trust operating in Canada has been drafted by the city council. Copies will be presented to various municipalities for the purpose of securing their co-operation.

London.—Lord Tennyson's poem 'Dora' has been arranged as a Cinematograph play and will shortly be produced in London.

VIEWS OF BOURASSA

SAYS CANADA WILL GET WORST OF CANAL DISPUTE

Leader of French-Canadian Nationalists Draws Parallel With Certain Other Events in Canada, and Says Britain Will do Anything Rather Than Risk War with U.S.

Montreal.—In the "Devoir," Henri Bourassa, leader of the French-Canadian Nationalists, deals with the attitude of the English and Canadian press with regard to President Taft's message on the Panama Canal legislation.

It may be taken for granted that this turmoil will end all previous Anglo-American imbroglios at Canada's expense—for it is Canadian sea traffic that will suffer most from the discrimination made in American coastwise trading.

It will be settled as the Maine and Ohio boundary dispute, the Atlantic fisheries, the Alaska boundary, the Clayton-Bulwer treaty were all settled.

From my first stay in London in 1901 and from personal conversation with various British statesmen and publicists, I have come to the definite conclusion that the Imperial Government, with any party in power, will stand anything rather than risk a conflict with the United States.

I am not, however, to be counted among those Canadians who charge their statesmen with criminal negligence or cowardice, because of their passive, and even at times, submissive attitude towards the arrogance of the Yankee.

They believe, and rightly so, that even if victorious, Great Britain would gain nothing by war with the States, while she would make tremendous financial losses and run the risk of famine and social revolution at home.

This is known in Washington better than Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, where we lay deep in the narrow quietness and childish pretensions of our colonial irresponsibility.

No wonder, therefore, that American rulers, indifferent as they are to all precepts of international honor and integrity, should laugh at England's protests.

As to Canadian wallings, they mind them no more than the complaints of the remnants of Indian tribes.

The writer then says that England has encouraged the United States in its cynical attitude by giving it its moral support in the war with Spain, and by its spoliation of the Boer republics in the Boer war and concludes:—

Then, if international compacts are important to preserve peace and good order in the world, engagements between provinces and races of a confederacy are equally essential to social and national honor.

The Canadian Confederation rests on the terms of the agreement accepted by the former provinces, and especially of the compact between the Anglo-Protestant majority and the Franco-Catholic minority.

How has the pledged faith been kept? The words of honor respected? The laws of national integrity observed?

A country in which the notion of moral rights and good faith to minorities is weakened, soon loses the secret of necessary strength to have its material rights respected by others.

An old French proverb says that treachery always pays back its master.

Let the frantic denunciations of Taft in Canada meditate over the maxim.

SOUTH AFRICA TO HAVE FAST ARMED LINERS

Union Will Follow Canada's Lead in Augmenting the Empire's Fleet

Capetown.—The South African government has taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the mail contract, which has just been negotiated by Sir D. P. de Villiers Graaf, in London, to make new and important arrangements regarding the South African contribution to imperial naval defence.

There is every indication that the union has decided to follow the lead of Canada and to provide a fleet of fast armed liners, which will be convertible into naval auxiliaries capable of holding the east-bound trade route in time of war.

This is suggested by the announcement that the new contract provides for the complete replacement of the existing union castle fleet, during the currency of the contract, by bigger and faster steamers, following Sir D. P. de Villiers Graaf's recent secret conferences with Mr. Churchill, whereat the subject of armed liners was discussed.

It is anticipated that the money contribution for the navy will be withdrawn, and that the saving thus effected will help to make up the difference between the old and new contract price. The arrangement is likely to be received very cordially in South Africa, where it is fully realized by Dutch and English alike that the present contribution is wholly inadequate.

It is understood that the Imperial authorities are fully satisfied with the arrangement.

Congregation of One

London.—The Rev. C. A. Goodheart, vicar of Lambourne, near Romford, has discontinued week-night services because on a recent occasion the congregation consisted only of one woman in addition to the clergyman, clerk and organist.

NO ALBERTA GRAIN BLOCKADE

More Cars to Move Crops, Empty Elevators and Two Weeks Earlier Harvest

Calgary.—The grain committee of the Calgary board of trade, which has been inquiring into the possibilities of the grain blockade this year presented its report.

The report states that the danger is reduced to a minimum, basing it on three contingencies known, more cars in which to move the crop, empty elevators at country points and a two weeks' earlier harvest.

The committee asks owners of grain in Alberta to bend every effort to get the grain ready for market at the earliest possible moment and also requests railways to have equipment on hand ready to receive early shipments.

Over ninety per cent of the elevators are empty and ready for the 1912 crop.

From figures compiled by the committee it was learned that last year Alberta received its proportion of cars as compared with the two other prairie provinces.

The report urges all parties concerned to unite in one common effort to dispatch as much grain as possible before the close of navigation, as this governs considerably the effect afterwards and will undoubtedly prevent a congestion this year and enable elevators to maintain an ingress and flow of grain through the markets.

Copies of the report were ordered sent to Messrs. Bury and Price of the C.P.R.; W. J. Tregillus, president, and E. J. Fream, secretary of the United Farmers of Alberta; and to L. P. Strong, president of the Calgary Grain Exchange.

Homestead Entries

Ottawa.—During the first six months of 1912 homestead entries for the four western provinces recorded by the officials of the interior department numbered 19,591, as against 18,509 for the same period in 1911, an increase of 1,082. For Manitoba the entries totalled 1,710, as against 1,459 in 1911 and for British Columbia they increased from 124 to 138. Both Saskatchewan and Alberta show decreases. The entries for Saskatchewan for the six months stood at 9,340, as against 10,409 for the first half of 1911, while the Alberta entries fell from 7,585 to 7,336.

The nationality returns show that the Americans headed the list with 1,087 entries. English homesteaders numbered 540; Scotch, 101; Irish, 122; Russians, 126; Norwegians, 146; while 242 Canadians from Ontario and 95 from Quebec took up land in the west.

TECHNICAL WORK IN WINNIPEG SCHOOLS

Future Generations to be Taught Practical Accomplishments

Winnipeg.—We are going to teach the future mothers of the city how to cook, make their own dresses and trim their own hats and we are going to teach the future bread-winners to shoe a horse, build a house, make a dynamo, manufacture furniture and do all the other necessary and practical things that are in demand.

This is in effect the edict of the Winnipeg school board in its announcement to the Winnipeg public of the technical work outlined for the new school year. All of this technical work will be taught in Winnipeg's two new magnificent high schools, and is further evidence that from the standpoint of progressiveness the Winnipeg school board takes rank with the best on the continent.

WOULD HONOR KAISER

California Professor Considers German Emperor Should Get Nobel Prize

Victoria.—In an address before the Canadian Club here, Professor Benj. Wheeler, of the University of California, made the novel suggestion that the next Nobel peace prize should be given to the German Emperor.

For twenty-five years, he said, he has had a mighty war machine under his hand and has never used it.

After regretting the strained Anglo-German relations he said that it was not territory, but protection against arbitrary interference with the progress of German development, which had caused the growth of the Kaiser's navy.

Catch Many Whales

Matamoras, Que.—The Canadian Whaling company, Ltd., organized in Montreal by Bannell Sawyer, some two years ago and operating in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is reported to be prosperous this season. The company has two steam whaling boats operating and over 70 whales have been caught this season. Most of the money in the business was secured by Mr. Sawyer in Norway, and the leading operatives in the company are Norwegians.

Made a Great Impression

Quebec.—Right Hon. R. L. Borden was given the greatest reception that a public man from overseas ever received in England, said Hon. J. D. Hazen minister of marine and fisheries on arrival of the Royal Edward.

In every case he carried himself with dignified bearing, and he commanded the respect of every one he met in England, and, I may add, France.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

THIRD QUARTER, FOR SEPTEMBER 8, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Matt. ix, 35 to x, 15. Memory Verses, 7, 8.—Golden Text, Matt. x, 40.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

If we consider the full portion assigned by the committee for the lesson today we begin with ix, 35, "Jesus went about all the cities and villages teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospel of the kingdom and healing every sickness and every disease among the people" (almost identical with iv, 23), and end with, "When Jesus had made an end of commanding His twelve disciples He departed thence to each and to preach in their cities." Thus is summarized the daily life of Jesus and His followers, telling of the kingdom and showing how our mortal bodies will then be affected. It seems to me that there is a great difference between teaching people how to reach heaven when they have to leave these mortal bodies and telling them of a kingdom of peace and righteousness on this earth over which we shall reign with the Lord Jesus Christ in bodies like His glorified body and never again be weak or weary or sick or die.

The work of the devil has been so long manifest in the result of sin and the curse that it is generally accepted as the normal condition, and no other is looked for. Jesus had ever before Him the joy and glory of this kingdom of which He loved to tell and give samples of it, and looking upon the earth bound multitudes who knew not of it. He was filled with compassion upon them as He saw them grovelling and no one to tell them of the glory and how to get it. A plentiful harvest to be reaped, but few laborers. Therefore ask the Lord to send forth the laborers. It sounds a little strange to ask the Lord of the harvest to see to His own affairs. It is His harvest, and He cares, and yet we are to ask Him to send forth the laborers. In Isa. vi, 8, He asks, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? And it is for the willing ones to say: Here am I. Send me. The question there seems to be that of 1 Chron. xix, 5, "Who then, is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord?" This of our lesson seems to refer the matter back to the Lord, but there is at least this in it: We cannot honestly ask Him to send forth laborers unless we are willing to say: Here am I. Send me. This seems to be implied also in what He then did, for He called the twelve up to Him, gave them power over unclean spirits and all manner of sickness and disease and sent them forth to do as He had been doing—preach the kingdom of heaven as at hand, heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils and, as they had freely received the power, so freely bestow the benefits (verses 1, 7, 8). Miracles had been wrought through Moses and Elijah and Elisha, some of judgment and some of mercy, but never before had a commission just like this been given equally to all, even to Judas Iscariot. They were His, all but Judas, who betrayed Him, and the power was His, all was of Him and they were His messengers.

As the Father spoke through Him and wrought through Him so He would speak and work through them. They were for Him; He was for and with them and He would see to the results. So it is or should be still—God working in us to will and to do of His good pleasure (Phil. ii, 13). The great question to any good work is generally that of funds to carry it on, but He told them not to be anxious about that, as He would see to it. Matt. vi, 33, stands always, or as some one has put it, Make thou His service thy delight; He'll make thy wants His care. As in Deut. xx, 10, 12, they were to carry peace everywhere, leaving it to the people to accept or reject it. There was one seemingly strange thing about their commission. They were not to go to either gentiles or Samaritans but only to Israel, and He said to the woman of Tyre and Sidon: I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel" (Matt. xv, 24). It was not until Israel had rejected Him and crucified Him and He was risen from the dead that He gave commission to go into all the world.

There are truths in this chapter which apply to the whole of this age, while some have special reference to the sending forth of the twelve. He is always the same, and the world will be the same as long as it has its present ruler, whom He will send to the pit when He sets up His kingdom. Those who are truly His and filled with His spirit must expect to find themselves as sheep in the midst of wolves, hated for His sake, persecuted, treated as He was, for the disciple is not above his Master. In emergencies, when under arrest we can trust the Holy Spirit to speak through us (verse 20), and we should be so filled that He can speak through us at all times. He is always ready to make true to His messengers Ex. iv, 12: Jer. i, 7, 9. Those whom He sends must be without fear of any kind, even of death. See the three fear not of verses 26, 28, 31, and the comfort to be obtained by considering even sparrows. Note in verses 37-39 the whole-hearted, self-renouncing devotion to Himself which He expects and in verse 42 the reward for the smallest service.

Handbills are now out announcing that an address on the New Municipal Act will be delivered by the Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of Municipal Affairs, on the 17th inst. at R. B. Murray's at 2pm. and at Garrington at 7p.m. Read further details in another column.

During the past week the Ellison Milling Co. of Lethbridge, Alta. were convicted, under the Dominion Seed Control Act, of having in the season of 1912 sold alfalfa seed containing dodder, a noxious weed under the above act.

This case is of special interest to farmers and seed merchants in that it is the first prosecution made in Alberta under the Act. It is however, the intention of the Dominion Seed Branch hereafter to rigidly enforce the Act in the Western provinces. In consequence merchants and others handling seed should see that all seed offered for sale complies with the provisions of the Act.

As a business proposition you ought to join the Bowden Agricultural Society.

The Canada Cement Company announces that within 60 days it will equip its Calgary mill to turn out 1,500 barrels of cement daily in the effort to keep pace with the increasing demand for this product. The rising tide of business in Calgary is making itself especially felt in the postal service, and relief for the congested city post office is being sought by providing temporary quarters, pending the erection of a permanent building.

Wilbert Lloyd, and George Frederick, the infant sons of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hunter were Christened on Thursday evening by the Rev. F. E. Davies. Several friends were present at this interesting service.

Mrs. (Rev) Davies leaves on Friday for an extended trip to England. She intends to visit friends in Montreal, and sails on the s. s. Canada on Sept 21st. Mrs. Davies has rendered valuable service to the Methodist Church in Bowden by her sweet singing and also as a Violinist in the Church Orchestra. She will be greatly missed by her numerous friends at Bowden, Lone Pine and Nisbet.
